

STOA ON THE WALL: THE CHOICE OF HERCULES

[ON-LINE TALK]

Date

Monday 22nd May 2023. 7.30pm until 8.30pm [18:30 until 19:30 UTC]

Venue

On-line / Zoom

Fee

5 GBP | 6 EUR | 6 USD | 8 CAD

Level

Beginners to Intermediate

Description

As a young man, Hercules found himself at a fork in the road, where he paused to contemplate his future. Two goddesses appeared and each offered him a different path. The first goddess, alluring and beautiful, offered him luxury, the second goddess, plain and humble, offered him hardship. Which did he choose, and why?

Suggested Reading

Letters from a Stoic by Seneca (translated by Robin Campbell) & Meditations by Marcus Aurelius (translated by Martin Hammond)

Booking

To book a place on this talk, please email darrenharper.esq@gmail.com

N.B. This is part of the Stoa on the Wall project, which seeks to share Ancient wisdom for fulfilment, wellbeing and Happiness.

darrenharper.net