

RIGHT AND WRONG IN THE REAL WORLD

[FIVE WEEK COURSE]

Dates

19th Apr, 3rd, 10th, 17th & 24th May 2022

[N.B. no class 26th Apr,

Tuesdays 7pm until 8.30pm BST [18:00 until 19:30 UTC]

Venue

On-line / Zoom

Fees

45 GBP | 54 EUR | 61 USD

Level

Beginners to Intermediate

Description

The branch of philosophy that deals with right and wrong is known as ethics. In this course we will examine various ethical theories and apply them to some of the most prominent problems of the modern world. Our exploration of ethics will be aided by Aristotle, Kant and J.S. Mill. We will then apply their theories to modern issues including free speech and robot ethics.

Outline

Week One	Introduction and the Art of Living
Week Two	Utility
Week Three	Duty
Week Four	Virtue
Week Five	Applied Ethics and Conclusion

Suggested Reading

Utilitarianism by J. S. Mill, Groundwork of the Metaphysics of Morals by Immanuel Kant and Nicomachean Ethics by Aristotle

darrenharper.net

Booking

To book a place on this course, please email darrenharper.esq@gmail.com