Description

What does Summer mean to you? Is it the season most redolent of a carefree childhood? This day course, suitable for aspiring or more advanced poets, will begin by exploring exemplars of the season, including Henry David Thoreau, Wallace Stevens and Langston Hughes, and then we'll begin crafting our our poems, inspired by the sublime setting of Minsteracres.

Outline

10am - 12noon	Introduction and the Summer poetry of Thoreau, Stevens & Hughes
12noon - 1pm	An inspiring Summer stroll at Minsteracres (with notebook)
1pm - 2pm	Lunch
2pm - 4pm	Crafting Summer poems and Conclusion
